Brief note of the Project

Farmers in Damdiai clusters are financially weak and faced a problem in levelling, repair and construction of proper water channel and poor road connectivity which enable them in utilization of farm machinery such as tractor. This various problems result in delay of farm operations resulting to lower production.

Beneficiaries under RKVY were assisted in land levelling, repair and construction of proper water channel and roads which enable them in timely management and field preparation. Under this 6 Ha of WRC area is newly created which resulted in increase in rice production to 10 MT. Apart from Rice farmers cultivated vegetables resulting in increase in farm income. This enhanced production to a great extent and is expected to further increase production.
